Stepping through the quaint storm porch, you enter directly into the lounge, a characterful living space rich in period detail. Exposed black timber beams create a striking contrast against the white ceiling, while original floorboards and solid wood flooring add warmth underfoot. A large inglenook brick fireplace with an inset wood-burning stove and tiled hearth forms the heart of the room, complemented by traditional wooden doors and a generous front-facing window that fills the room with natural light. Together, these features create a warm and inviting setting that captures the essence of cottage living.

Moving through to the kitchen, the charm continues with exposed ceiling beams, textured walls, and tiled flooring. Fitted cabinetry in a soft blue tone pairs with wooden worktops and open shelving, giving both practicality and character. A traditional stable door provides direct access to the garden, while a wide window offers open views and floods the space with daylight. There is ample room for everyday essentials, including fridge-freezer, washing machine, and a cooker set within the original fireplace nook.

Just beyond, the ground floor bathroom introduces a more contemporary touch, styled with a dark modern palette and white tiling for contrast. A bath with shower over, pedestal sink, and WC are complemented by exposed beams and a traditional latch door. A large frosted window brings in natural light while ensuring privacy, creating a fresh and welcoming feel.

The first floor is home to two well-proportioned double bedrooms. The principal room to the front is a spacious double with twin windows, exposed beams, and a built-in wardrobe cupboard, while the rear bedroom enjoys open countryside views and includes built-in shelving, making it both practical and charming.
