The Location

Colman Road in Eaton is widely recognized as one of Norwich's most desirable residential streets, offering a combination of convenience, accessibility, and a high quality of life. The road's location makes it particularly attractive for those seeking a balance between city living and a more peaceful, suburban environment.

One of the key advantages of Colman Road is its proximity to major institutions. The University of East Anglia (UEA) is only a short drive or bike ride away, making the location ideal for academics, students, and university staff. The nearby Norfolk & Norwich University Hospital adds further appeal, offering not only world-class healthcare facilities but also employment opportunities for medical professionals. For families and professionals alike, this combination of educational and healthcare access is highly advantageous.

Colman Road also benefits from excellent connectivity to the city centre. Norwich's vibrant city centre, with its wide array of shops, restaurants, cultural attractions, and historic landmarks, is easily accessible via road or public transport.

This makes commuting, shopping, dining, and enjoying leisure activities exceptionally convenient for residents. Additionally, the area is well-served by local bus routes, cycle paths, and pedestrian-friendly streets, further enhancing its accessibility.

Beyond its practical advantages, Eaton and the surrounding neighbourhoods offer a pleasant living environment with tree-lined streets, well-maintained properties, and a strong sense of community. The area is known for its safety, tranquility, and proximity to green spaces, including the scenic Eaton Park and the picturesque River Yare, which provide opportunities for walking, cycling, and outdoor recreation.

Colman Road, Norwich

Tucked away off Colman Road, this substantial four-bedroom family home offers an exceptional amount of space, character, and further potential, making it an ideal long-term home in a highly sought-after NR4 location.

Set behind a large brickweave driveway, the property immediately stands out with its charming exterior, an attractive blend of brick and part-rendered elevations, enhanced by classic 1930s mock Tudor detailing, most notably the striking black timber-style beams, which reflect the home's interwar heritage while adding a distinctive and characterful appearance.

Stepping inside via the porch, you are welcomed into a spacious entrance hall that sets the tone for the rest of the property. The ground floor boasts a versatile trio of reception rooms, including two generous living areas and a bright conservatory, offering flexible spaces for both everyday family living and entertaining. The home is rich in character throughout, with a warm and inviting feel that makes it instantly appealing.

At the heart of the home lies a large, well-appointed kitchen, offering an abundance of storage and extensive worktop space, perfect for busy family life or those who enjoy cooking and hosting. A separate utility room adds further practicality and convenience.

Also on the ground floor are two bedrooms, one of which benefits from a recently updated ensuite shower room, while the second bedroom is served by an additional separate shower, both bathrooms having been modernised to a high standard in recent years.

Upstairs, two further bedrooms are complemented by a beautifully finished contemporary bathroom, complete with a freestanding bath and a calming botanical-inspired design, creating a relaxing retreat.

The property continues to impress externally, with a large, established rear garden featuring a well-maintained lawn, mature shrubs, and flourishing greenery that provide both privacy and a picturesque setting. A wooden pergola with a patio and seating area offers the perfect space for outdoor dining and entertaining, while a workshop adds further versatility for hobbies or storage.

Further benefits include a boiler replaced approximately three years ago, giving added peace of mind. The property also offers excellent scope to extend (subject to planning permission), allowing future owners to further enhance and personalise the already generous accommodation.

This is a home that truly stands out for its space, character, and potential, perfect for families looking to settle in a prime NR4 location with room to grow.
